Innovative Concierge Medicine

“Medicine is a blend of art and science. While I am fascinated by the science, which is constantly changing, it is the art of the relationships I value more, as they are the foundation of healing and wellness.”

“Getting old is the goal.
Feeling old is not.”

– Michael J. Waligora, MD, FACC

Dr. Michael J. Waligora, MD, FACC

Dr. Michael J Waligora is a board-certified cardiologist at Dedication Health with more than 30 years of experience in cardiovascular medicine. He specializes in the diagnosis and treatment of coronary artery disease, heart failure, hypertension, and complex heart rhythm disorders.

Dr. Waligora attended Santa Clara University graduating Magna Cum Laude with a B.S. in biology. He earned his medical degree from Saint Louis University School of Medicine and completed his internal medicine residency at Northwestern University where he was named the chief fellow.

At Dedication Health, Dr. Waligora values the concierge model of medicine, which allows him to combine advanced cardiovascular expertise with the time, access, and personal attention every patient deserves.
